BELLEFONTE, PA.,

Wednesday Morning, February 15 1871.

In the test case of the Liverpool and London Fire and Life Insurance Company against Oliver, Treasurer of the Massachusetts, the United States Supreme Court has affirmed the rights of the States to tax foreign insurance companies upon the premiums earned within the State.

"Let there be no test but Republicanism—no leader but Grant," is the advice given by the New York Standard to the Republicans of that State. And very good advice it is: applicable here and in other States as well as in New York. Adopted and honestly followed by the party it will insure present harmony and future victory.

Almost in a day the American people have awakened to the value of narrow guage railrods, in developing many parts of the country that could not incur the expense of building railroads of the ordinary gauge. The public mind is eager to get whatever will tend to further enlightenment upon this new and important subject. One of the most practical efforts to promote enterprise of this nature is a bill introduced by Mr. Emerson into the Michigan Senate, and now pending there.

Tonnage of Leading Nations.—The following statement shows the tonnage of the various commercial nations of the globe according to the latest returns. The immense preponderance of Great Britain in the commerce of the world is apparent. It appears that during the last ten years her tonnage has increased considerably, while that of other nations has decreased:—Great Britain, 7,236,916 tons; United States, 4,256,707 tons; France, 1,008,084 tons; Sweden and Norway, 706,898 tons; Italy, 578,-666 tons; Holland, 528,676 tons; Spain, 395, 270 tons; Hause Towns, 381,020 tons; Prussia, 274,606 tons; Austria, 332,632 tons; Greece, 280,392 tons; Russia, 180,992 tons; Denmark, 148,280 tons; Hanover, 105,150 tons; Chili, 67,-090 tons; Belgium, 38,720 tons.

THE RAILROAD MURDER.

In reference to the cause of the late terrible disaster on the Hudson River railroad, the New York Standard says: All trains are, by a law of the State, required to come to a full stop before running upon a drawbridge. If the Pacific express had complied with this requirement there could have been no collision, and the accident would have ended with the upsetting of the oil car. It may be said that the draw was not in use while the Hudson and Woppinger's creek were both frozen up. Still, the fact of the law remains, and the unchecked speed. The engineer has been placed beyond the reach of all earthly tribunals. The company is responsible for the acts of its servants. It is accountable for the habitual violation of a servant's well known care. Will it be allowed to shirk its responsibility for the terrible and damning consequences of this want of care?

SOLDIERS BEWARE.

The law granting soldiers a homestead of 160 acres of land passed the House two weeks ago; but has not yet passed the Senate. It is, as it passed the House, quite an improvement on the law of last winter. We hope it will pass the Senate. The Government cannot do too much for its brave defenders.

We understand that a few unprincipled agents, anticipating the early passage of the law, are flooding the country with appeals to soldiers, to send in their discharges without delay. This is all wrong. Soldiers of Centre county, of Pennsylvania trust no agent, whom you do not know. Do not be in a hurry to send your discharges. Wait at least for the passage of the law, and until you are informed of the provisions of the Act either through the Republican or your home agents. A. B. Hutchison and Capt. I. Lytle, are energetic, reliable agents known to all of our Centre county soldiers. Daniel Welch & Co., Washington, D. C., is a good and reliable firm, that any of our soldiers, wishing to write directly to Washington, can safely trust. Dan'l Welch, Esq., the senior of the above named firm is a native of this county, an honest, persevering, and reliable man. We say again trust only the men you know and keep a bright lookout for sharpers and skinners.

For the Republican.

AUDITOR AND SURVEYOR GENERAL.

Messrs. Editors:—As the time is rapidly approaching when the Republican State Convention will meet to nominate candidates for the office of Auditor General and for Surveyor General, it would be well to look around for suitable candidates to fill the same. One great object the Republican party must keep in view, in making their nominations, is to nominate candidates of ability, popularity and energy. Men who themselves will throw off their coats and go to work determined to win—who know no such word as fail, and at the same time have the ability to fill the office to which they aspire to be elected. Men who can combine the strength of the whole party, and who are not identified with any petty factional party strife and quarrels. Men who will bring honor and credit to the offices and administer the affairs of the same impartially, justly and fearlessly, as they have been for the last six years.

In Gen. Harrison Allen, of Warren county, who is a candidate for Auditor General, we have just such a man. He stands to-day pre-eminently above all others named in point of ability, energy and popularity. His ability has been well attested, not only in the Legislative halls where he to-day ranks among the ablest debators and shrewdest senators and one of the most careful guardians of the public trust; but in his business relations at home, in his practice at the bar, he has won distinction which but few men of his age attain. As a soldier he had no superiors, having enlisted in the 10th Reserves as Captain, promoted to Major and afterwards Colonel of the 151st P. V., and for gallant and meritorious services made Brigadier General. His soldierly and social qualities endeared him to the people and as a mark of their appreciation they have twice sent him to represent them in the House of Representatives and then returned him to the State Senate, and now we propose to nominate and elect him for Auditor General. We have no man who would do more and work harder to organize the forces of the Republican party, than Gen. Allen. He is one of our ablest public speakers and no one is more competent to take the field and make a successful campaign than he. He is popular among the people wherever he is known and his acquaintance extends all over this Commonwealth. His social qualities endear him to all who make his acquaintance, and in short, he is just the man to lead the Republican party to victory in the campaign of 1871.

For Surveyor General we have Wm. P. Wilson, of Centre county, who was a candidate for State Senator last fall; but owing to some unfortunate local difficulties in a portion of the district our whole ticket was defeated; but Mr. Wilson showed his popularity by running ahead of the ticket. During the whole campaign which was very exciting, there was not, nor could there be, a single charge brought against him. He is a man above reproach, of unexceptionable character and a lawyer of fine abilities, standing high in his profession at the Bellefonte bar and a man that would bring strength to the party. We must have a candidate from the central part of the State, and no man can unite the party more strongly than Mr. Wilson. The office of Surveyor General is important. One that should have at its head a man of ability. The Commonwealth has derived a large amount of revenue from this source for the last two years and a great deal remains yet to be done, there, in the way of perfecting land titles and every farmer is anxious to have his title perfect. Then place Mr. Wilson in that office with his ability and the large experience he has had in securing land titles and business of that character, and the people will feel secure and know that their interest will be faithfully attended to. Mr. Wilson has always been a faithful worker in the party, laboring zealously to promote the interests of the same, and thereby promote the interests of our whole country. He is one of the men who lives and works for principle, and not alone for selfish motives. He has labored long and hard. Let us reward him. We have a clear Republican majority of 20,000 in Penn'a. to-day, and all that remains to bring them to the polls and bury the Democratic party so deep, that there will be nought but a doleful sound heard from their tombs, for the next century, is to place Allen and Wilson in nomination on the 10th of March and the victory will be complete. Victory.

Harrisburg, Feb. 11, 1871.

NATIONAL LABOR UNION.

From the resolutions of the National Labor Union, lately in session at Washington, D. C., we quote as follows:

Whereas, The American people are compelled annually to pay taxes amounting to over $300,000,000 for the support of the Government, and to meet the interest on a debt incurred to suppress a wicked rebellion; and, whereas, their ability to bear this enormous annual burden without absolute ruin must depend upon the diversity of labor, the development of our national resources, and the general prosperity of the laboring classes; and whereas, this diversity, development and prosperity can in no way be so effectually promoted and so permanently secured as by such legislation as shall protect our laboring, mechanical, and manufacturing interests against foreign competition, and at the same time create a home market for our agricultural products; therefore.

Resolved, That we believe a high Protective Tariff both a financial and industrial necessity in the present condition of the country, and that it is demanded by every consideration of justice, wisdom and humanity.

Frederick Douglass, who was impudently claimed by the Chicago Tribune as sympathizing with the Revenue Reform conspiracy was elected President of the Union, and he will advocate its principles in his new paper entitled the New National Era, published in Washington City. We give to him and to his associates a hearty welcome. We have labored for them in the trying times of the past, and our success has imposed upon us the new duty of laboring with them to sustain such a national policy as will enable the lately enfranchised working people of the country to fit themselves for all the duties and honors of American citizenship.—Industrial Bulletin.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY OF THE UNITED STATES TREASURY.

The Washington Patriot says a bold attempt to rob the United States Treasury was made the other night. The captain of the night watch, in making his rounds, heard a suspicious noise near the Currency aparment and upon opening the door, a burly negro made a savage thrust at him with a club. Behind the negro was a white man who also had a club, which he was in the act of using on Cutler, when the latter blew a whistle and closed the door. The burglars then retreated, and Cutler quickly reopened the door, drew a seven-shooter, and called on them to halt.—They did not heed his order, however, and he gave chase, attempting to fire his pistol, five of the chambers of which did not explode, owing to the defective cartridges. Finding his weapon useless and having no other means of attack, Cutler rapidly ran to the door, at the same time blowing his whistle to arouse his force. The watchman on the inside, hearing the alarm, mistook the direction and ran to the northern instead of the northwest corner of the basement, and before they could traverse the space between the door and the west front of the building, in the darkness, the robbers escaped.

The Keokuk Constitution tells a curious struggle between a woman and a deer, near Summersville, Iowa. Mr. Will Collins, who resides near that place started up a wild buck, and, in the chase the frightened buck leaped over the fence into Mr. Collins' yard. It was immediately attacked by a bulldog, and detained till the hounds came up, which also engaged in the struggle. Mrs. Collins, who was the only person present at the time, took up the gun to shoot the buck, but, fearing she would kill one of the dogs, laid the weapon aside, and seizing an axe, went to the assistance of the canines. As she was aiming a blow at the enraged deer, it sprung at her, knocking her down, and commenced stamping her in the breast. The dogs seized the buck and dragged it away from Mrs. Collins, but not until she was severely injured from its hoofs. Nothing daunted Mrs. Collins renewed her attack upon the infuriated animal with the axe, but was again knocked down by it, and stamped more severely than before.—The dogs once more went to her rescue, and succeeded in getting the animal away from her. Mrs. Collins repeated her assault upon the buck, and this time succeeded in despatching him. The lady was seriously but not dangerously injured.

Governor Merrill, of Iowa, made an awkward slip of the tongue in a speech to the prisoners in the State Penitentiary on a recent visit of inspection. He began by saying he "was glad to see so many there." The prisoners did not appreciate the sentiment so well as the unintentional joke.

A WOMAN DESENDED A WELL FIFTY FEET DEEP.

A strange occurrence took place on last Friday night, at a neighborhood two miles south-east of Granville.

Among the families residing in the neighborhood mentioned above, is that of George Stafford, among the most respectable in that section. Mrs. Stafford has a young babe, and since its birth has been in very poor health, suffering of late most intensely from a gathered breast.

On the night in question a number of friends and neighbors had assembled at the residence of her husband, as it was feared that night would be her last on earth. In the fore part of the night, she suffered the most excruciating pain, but about midnight she became so much better, and felt so much easier that all retired. During the evening, however, there was some conversation about a well one of the neighbors had been digging, and after events showed that the conversation had deeply impressed itself on her mind.

After all had been asleep for two hours or more—some one awoke and made the astounding discovery that the patient was missing—gone, when or where no one could tell. The household was at once aroused, and the entire neighborhood was searched without finding the least trace of her. The night was a bitter cold one, and nothing less than her speedy death was anticipated unless she was speedily rescued.

At length some one suggested that she might be in the well already mentioned. Scarcely expecting it to be the case, and fearing that if it was they would only find the mutilated corpse, they proceeded thither. A pumpstock had been put in the well. In the bottom of the well a barrel had been sunk, which was full of water and some eighteen inches of water above that. A rope with a lantern was let down into the well. As it neared the bottom one of the party saw a hand reach out and clutch it.

A large rope, which had been used in drawing dirt out of the well, was procured and one of the party descended to the rescue. This person found her in her night clothes, standing on the edge of the barrel in about eighteen inches of water. She was speedily brought to the surface and taken home. Subsequent investigation showed that she must have left her home in a state of delirious unconsciousness, made her way to the well spoken of in her hearing, and descended to the bottom of it by means of the pump. It is simply impossible that she could have jumped into the well without meeting a horrible and speedy death.

A subsequent examination showed two severe wounds, one below each knee, and both penetrating to the bone, and both looked as if they had been made by the edge of the barrel. She probably had fallen part way down the well. At present her condition is very précarious.—Muncie (Md.) Times.

Certain free-trade orators are in the habit of inquiring, in their free-trade speeches, "Why, if protection be so wise a governmental policy, was it not known to the ancients? Why did not the Cæsars collect the revenues of Rome by protective tariffs?"

Answer: First, because the Cæsars, especially Augustus, seldom or never wore any garments save those which were spun, woven, and made by the women of their family. There was no foreign competition. Secondly, because the Cæsars practiced free trade and direct taxation. They got what they wanted in the cheapest market, paying for it only in blows; and they sold their labor in the dearest market, for they held it far above any price. All barbarism is free trade.—Phila. Press.

England has prospered by the war, and the manufacturers are the only people contented with the actual state of things. German and French competition has vanished. The tremendous waste of the war compels both countries to get supplies from England, and the trade in cotton, coarse woolens, arms, powder, munitions of all kinds, railway rolling-stock, &c., is very active. But with the money for these things comes the scorn from Germany and the hatred from France, and some day England may confess in sorrow that her bargains of to-day were dearly bought.

A man made a bet the other day that he could drink a pint and a half of Cincinnati whiskey in twelve hours. He won the bet, and his widow remarked at the funeral next day that it was the first money he had earned by hard work in ten years.

CONGRESSIONAL SUMMARY.

Senate.—Mr. Cameron, from the Committee on Foreign Relations, reported the House bill to provide for the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the Declaration of American Independence by an international exhibition at Philadelphia, with an amendment providing that the United States shall not be liable for any expense attending such exhibition, or by reason of the same. The Finance Committee reported adversely Mr. Summer's bill to terminate the fabrication of United States notes and fractional currency, strengthen the reserves of the national banks, and promote the return to specie payments. The Committee on Post Offices reported back the House joint resolution repealing the joint resolution approved July 15, 1870, authorising the Postmaster General to adjust the claim of George Chorpenning, accompanied with a written report. It recites the fraudulent character of the claim: that the claim was passed without proper attention during the hurry and bustle attending the closing hour of a session; that all responsibility in the case had been assumed by Congress in enjoining upon the Postmaster General the adjustment of the claim in a special way; exonerates the Postmaster General from all blame, and suggests a thorough examination of the whole claim by the Court of claims. The Washington and New York Air-line Railroad bill came up as unfinished business, but was laid aside to consider a number of private bills, which were called up and disposed of. The House amendment to the resolution to convey supplies to Europe was concurred in. The Vice President laid before the Senate an Executive communication recommending that, in view of the growing importance and power of North Germany the Berlin mission be made first-class.

House.—Mr. Cessna made a personal explanation in reference to his connection with the Chorpenning case. Mr. Myers presented a petition from the commission merchants and wholesale liquor dealers of Philadelphia for the repeal of the one per cent, tax on the sale of spirits. A bill providing that no account or claim which have been adjusted by the accounting officers of the Government shall be reopened without authority especially given by law was passed. The Committee on Military Affairs made a report on the investigation into the expulsion of three cadets from West Point Academy. It gives a detailed history of the case, and closes with resolutions directing the restoration of Cadets Baird, Barnes, and Fleckinger on June 1, 1871, the dismissal of the leaders and ringleaders in the affair, and the trial of the other members of the first class who participated in it. The report was ordered to be printed, and its consideration was postponed until February 14. The Speaker laid before the House a message from the President, calling attention to the recent establishment in Germany of political institutions analagous in their character to those of the United States, and recommending that the salaries of the minister and secretary of legation at Berlin be respectively increased to the same as are allowed at London and Paris. The Committee of Ways and Means reported a bill to repeal the income tax, and gave notice that, on Thursday next, immediately after the reading of the journal, they would move to go into Committee of the whole for the purpose of reaching the bill. The Committee on Appropriations reported the deficiency bill amounting to $10,677,525. Made the special order for February 10. Messrs. Wood, Holman, Morgan, Reeves, and others presented petitions from citizens of New York for a law to prevent further land grants to railroad and other corporations, and to preserve the public domain for actual settlers. The House then proceeded to consider the bill reported by Mr. Hoar from the Committee on Education and Labor to establish a system of national education, but without action adjourned.

In the Senate on the 8th inst., on motion of Mr. Scott, an addition of two members was made to the committee investigating the condition of the South. A resolution of the Legislature of Oregon, rejecting the fifteenth amendment to the Constitution, denying the right of Congress to interfere with suffrage within the State, and charging that the amendment was being enforced with the aid of Federal bayonets, was presented by Mr. Williams. He said it indicated the position to be taken by the Democratic party in the next Presidential election. They were determined to overthrow, if they got the power, all the constitutional amendments made since the war, and to restore, as nearly as possible, the old order or things, involving anarchy in government and opening the way for another rebellion. Mr. Thurman said the Democratic party contemplated holding a national convention some time between this and the Presidential election, when a platform would be adopted upon which the Democracy of all the States, including Oregon, would stand. If Mr. William would wait until that declaration of principles and policy was made, he would know more certainly than he does now, where the Democracy mean to stand in the ensuing Presidential contest. After some further talk on the subject, a motion of Mr. Williams to lay the resolution on the table was agreed to. Mr. Poole presented a remonstrance against the removal of disabilities from Senator elect Vance and Representative Waddell. Mr. Thurman remarked that most of the signatures to the remonstrance were in one hand writing, and he doubted their genuineness. After some debate on the District of Columbia school bill, pending a motion of Mr. Patterson to strike out the clause admitting pupils without distinction of race or color, on the ground that its retention would destroy the efficiency of the system, the Senate went into executive session and soon after adjourned.

In the House, a resolution offered by Mr. Dawes, authorizing the Committee on Appropriations to send for persons and papers and take testimony in reference to the cancellation by the Postmaster-General of the stamp and envelope contract of Dempsey and Otelle, was adopted. A bill was reported by Mr. Schofield from the Naval Committee for the removal of the Brooklyn navy yard,, followed by a resolution from Mr. Dawes for a like removal of the navy yards at Charlestown (Mass.) and Kittery (Maine), or either of them. Mr. Scofield moved an amendment which was adopted providing for the sale of the land at public auction or by sealed proposals. The removal of these yards was advocated by Mr. Dawes, on the ground that it was cheaper to build a navy by private contract, and the removal of the yards named would save money for the government. Mr. Dawes favored the creation of a new yard at New London, Connecticut. Mr. Hall, of the Naval Committee, was in favor of the reduction of navy yards, but he doubted the policy of removing the material from Brooklyn to another site or sites, New London, for instance, or League Island. He did not think the House was quite prepared to do that.

In the Senate on the 9th inst. Mr. Cragin, from the Naval Committee, reported back the bill to regulate rank in the navy with amendments. Mr Pomeroy, from the Public Lands Committee, reported with amendment, allowing an additional quarter section, the House bill relating to homesteads for the officers, soldiers and seamen of the late war. Mr. Morton introduced a bill, in accordance with the suggestion of the President, to establish the Berlin mission upon the same grade with those at Paris and London. The effect of the bill, should it pass, would be to raise the salary of the minister to $17,000 in gold. Eulogies upon Hon. John Covode were pronounced by Senators Scott, Sumner, Sherman and Cameron; after which the Senate took a recess until 7:30 p. m., for the purpose of finishing the reading of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, with the understanding that no action was to be taken on the amendments.

In the House a resolution reported by Mr. Hooper, from the Committee on Ways and Means, authorizing the issue and payment by officers of the Treasury of checks under $500 that may have been lost or destroyed, was passed. A sharp discussion ensued upon a bill reported by Mr. Starkweather, from the Naval committee, to permit Mr. Hanscomb, late naval constructor, to withdraw his resignation, which was accepted in January, 1865, and to reinstate him in office. In the course of the debate Mr. Banks and Mr. Butler denounced Admiral Porter in the most caustic terms. The bill was opposed by Mr. Sargent and Mr. Farnsworth, but finally passed, 143 to 67. The naval appropriation bill was considered in committee of the whole. An amendment submitted by Mr. Washburn, authorizing the President to accept the resignation of any officer in the navy until the number of officers of the grade to which such resigning officer belongs shall be reduced to the number authorized by law, was adopted, when the committee rose and reported the bill to the House. The bill was then passed. It appropriates $19,359,000. Soon after the House adjourned.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

I LOVE THEE, PENNSYLVANIA.

BY L. C. MALONE.

I love thee, Pennsylvania!
My own, dear, native State,
Proud birth-land of the noble free,
Home of the good and great!
For in our country's story
There is no fairer name,
No other shines more brilliant
Upon the scroll of Fame:

I love thee, Pennsylvania!
When 'mid the smiles of spring.
Along thy dark green valleys
The strains of gladness ring;
When gentle flowers arising,
Put on their varied sheen,
And raise their bright eyes laughing,
Up t'ward the sky serene.

I love thee, Pennsylvania!
I love thy mountains grand,
Whose summits bear the impress
Of Deity's own hand;
Stern battlements of Freedom,
They frown upon her foes,
While cradled in their vallies
Thy children safe repose.

I love thee, Pennsylvania!
Though fortune unto me
Gives but a scanty pittance,
Thank Heaven I am free:
For o'er me I see gleaming,
Unsullied, bright and fair,
Thy broad, resplendent banner,
And read my "title" there.

I love thee, Pennsylvania!
On many a gory plain,
Thy patriot heroes slumber
Amongst the noble slain;
No other arms were stronger,
No other hearts more true
In the unbroken phalanx
Of Freedom's chosen few.

I love thee, Pennsylvania!
For when the battle star
Along the South was gleaming,
And the red flames of war
O'er fierce battalions nodded,
And trumpets loudly pealed,
At the first call for soldiers
Thy children took the field.

I love thee, Pennsylvania!
'Twas thy endearing smile
That 'lured my loved ancestors
From a far Ocean Isle:
They left the fields of Erin,
The "shamrock growing green,"
To breathe the air of Freedom,
And see her face serene.

I love thee, Pennsylvania!
We are all sovereign here,
We have no lords or tyrants,
No slaves to quake with fear;
Thy sons are brave and hardy,
Of bold and dauntless air,
Thy daughters chaste and witty,
The fairest of the fair.

I love thee, Pennsylvania!
Still may thy freedom shine,
Till hosts from every nation
Still gather 'round its shrine;
Proud Keystone of our Union,
Still, still secure the arch,
And in the path of glory,
Still onward proudly march.

Unwilling to be Shot—A California Editor's Farewell to his Lady Friends.

Emotional insanity having been so often pleaded successfully by husbands in California in defense of shooting or knifing suspected gallants the San Francisco News Letter says: "All men's wives who have hitherto enjoyed the advantage of our acquaintance, are hereby notified this ceases to-day, never to be renewed. It is with deep grief that we disrupt the social relations which promised so much, but we feel impelled thereto by the first law of nature. Our lady friends who have the misfortune to be married to other and inferior men will please stick like a leech to their legal protectors, and not recognize us on the street. We have taken considerable pleasure in their society—a pleasure which we flatter ourselves has been mutual—but this thing can no longer be permitted to go on. We trust that our motive, which is pure cowardice, will not be misconstrued. Somebody perishes ingloriously every day for being upon speaking terms with married women, and we do not care to have our turn come round. Deeply grateful for the past forbearance of aggrieved husbands, we make our bow and retire. Hereafter our bows and smiles will be lavished upon girls and widows exclusively; no others need apply. Whosoever shall attempt to introduce us to his own wife, or that of any other man, will be regarded as a conspirator against our precious life, and subjected to abuse in the columns of this journal. Nature is strong in us, and we do not wish to die. Whenever we shall feel a desire that way, we shall treat somebody's wife with common courtesy, get shot, and go quietly to our reward.

The Row of Bricks.

There is a great deal of philosophy in the following:

A boy hearing his father say, it was a poor rule that didn't work both ways, said, "If father applies this rule at his work, I will test it in my play."

So setting up a row of bricks, he tipped over the first,, which striking the second, caused it to fall on the third, which overturned the fourth, and so on, until all the bricks lay prostrate.

"Well," said the little boy, "each brick has knocked down his neighbor. I only tipped one. Now I will raise one, and see if he will raise his neighbor." He looked in vain to see them rise. "Here, father," said the boy, "its a poor rule that won't work both ways. They knock each other down, but they will not raise each other up."

"My son, bricks and mankind are alike made of clay, active in knocking down each other, but not disposed to help each other up."

"Father," said the boy, "does the first brick represent Adam?"

The father replied: "When men fall they love company, but when they rise they love to stand alone like yonder brick, and see others prostrate before them."

He that thinks himself the happiest man really is so; but he that thinks himself the wisest is generally the greatest fool.

Is Alcohol Necessary.

A short time ago we asked an old physician, if alcohol was necessary to sustain the human system under any circumstances; or if it was in any way a beneficial beverage; or whether it was deleterious or otherwise? He gives us the following answer:

Has the age of alcohol any deleterious effects on the human system?

Alcoholic liquors are nowhere found in nature. God never created them. They are the artificial product of fermented or decayed vegetable articles. Corn meal, when baked in a loaf of bread, nourishes; the same meal when rotted in the vat of a distillery, poisons and kills.

Alcohol is not a true food. It is never transformed in the human system. It neither warms nor sustains the human body. A man in the Arctic regions who should drink freely of brandy and expose himself, would freeze to death sooner than if he drank water. Alcohol does not increase the production of animal heat by its own chemical action. It interferes with alimentation, and deranges and destroys the digestive organs. Yet how many people are drinking whisky very day under the honest but ignorant supposition that these stimulating draughts help them to digest their dinners. Men will even cling to this destructive lie long after their stomachs have been burnt out by their fiery potations.

Alcoholic drinks do not increase permanently the muscular tone and power of the drinker. Tom Sayers, the famous pugilist, was asked if he did not use plenty of stimulating liquor while in training for prize fights, replied: "I am no teetotaler, but when I have business on hand, there is nothing like cold water and the dumb bells." After his last prize fight he took to hard drinking, in spite of his own convictions of the bad effect of alcohol, and became a powerless sot.

Strong drink produces a temporary excitement of the brain and the nervous system, and for this reason people love it. Medical science has conclusively proved that it does not increase nervous power. On the contrary it disturbs and wastes the vital forces. No life insurance company will take a risk on a habitual hard drinker.

Alcohol is an irritant narcotic; every healthy human frame recognizes it as a deadly enemy and endeavors to throw it off. It poisons the blood; it poisons the brain; it strikes through, and, by its horrid sorcery, poisons the very soul

AMICUS.

No temperance lecture could be stronger than the above, and comment is not needed.

Effects of Smoking on Boys.

Dr. Decaisne, in the course of investigation on the influence of tobacco on the circulation, has been struck with the large number of boys aged from nine to fifteen, who smoke, and has been led to inquire into the connection of this habit with the impairment of the general health. He has observed thirty eight boys, aged from nine to fifteen, who smoked more or less. Of these, distinct symptoms were present in twenty-seven. In twenty-two there were various disorders of the circulation; bruit de souffle in the neck, palpitation, disorders of digestion, slowness of intellect, and a more or less marked taste for strong drinks. In three the pulse was in termittent.

In eight there was found on examination more or less marked diminution of the red corpuseles; in twelve there was rather frequent epistaxis; ten had disturbed sleep; and four had slight ulcerations of the mucous membrane of the mouth, which disappeared on ceasing from the use of tobacco for some days.

In children who were well nourished, the disease was in general, less marked. As to the ages, eight of the boys were from nine to twelve; ninteen, from twelve to fifteen. The duration of the habit of smoking was, in eleven, from six months to a year, and in sixteen, more than two years. The ordinary treatment of anæmia in general produced no effect as long as the smoking was continued; but when this was desisted from, health was soon perfectly restored, if there was no organic disease.

A lawyer came into Court drunk, when the Judge said to him:

"Sir—I am sorry to see you in a condition which is a disgrace to yourself and family, the Court, and the profession to which you belong."

The reproof elicited the following colloquy:

"Did your honor speak to me?"

"I did, sir, I said that in my opinion, you disgrace yourself and family, the Court, and the profession to which you belong, by your conduct."

"May i-i-t please your Honor, I have been an attorney in-in-in this court for fifteen years, and permit me to say, your Honor, that this is the first correct opinion I ever knew you to give."

A story is told illustrating how fast cities are built in the west, to the effect that a traveler laid down on a vacant lot in Chicago to sleep, and in the morning found himself in a celler, with a five story building built over him. Occasionally you will find an old fogy who doubts that story.

The repentance that is delayed until old age, is but too often a regret for the inability to commit more sins.

"How," said a gentleman to a friend who wished to convey a matter of importance to a young lady, "how can you be certain of her reading the letter, seeing that you have directed it to her husband?" The German editor of the Schenectady Star is well up in verse. Here is a paraphrase that he has recently composed. The scene is supposed to have been laid on the Mohawk:

Court Incident.

One of the prominent ornaments of the bar, celebrated for his genial disposition, found himself, about the close of the war, washed ashore, high and dry, pecuniarily, in the city of Richmond, where he was forced to hang out his shingle and commence practice in the Hustings Court. One of his first clients was a youth who had been arrested at the instance of a respectable negro man of family for having, "rocked" his house, and severely injured his daughter with a stone through the window.

At the examination old Pompey was put upon the stand, and proved the charge in such undeniable terms that it would have gone hard with our friend's client had it not been for the following cross-examination."

Lawyer—You say one stone came into the room where you were sitting with your family, and struck your daughter?

Pomp—Yes, boss.

Lawyer—Where did it strike her?

Pomp—(Silent for a while.) I don't like to tell, boss.

Lawyer—But you must tell. I demand again. Where did it strike her?

Pomp—Dat's all foolishness, boss. I tell you, it hit her. I don't like to tell where, fore dese ladies in court.

Lawyer—But you must answer.—Where did it hit her?

Pomp—(Slowly.) On the buzzum, boss.

Lawyer—Well, how severely did it injure her?

Pomp—Oh, quit dis foolishness. I ain't gwine to tell.

Lawyer—Again I must insist upon my question being answered. Did it injure her?

Pomp—(In despair)—No, sah! It did not injure her, but it broke three fingers of a gentleman that was payin' 'tention to her.

The case was dismissed immediately for want of jurisdiction.

The Egg a Miniature Universe.

The following remarkable passage occurs in Professor Agassiz's "Method of Study in Natural History:"

One can hardly conceive the beauty of the egg as seen through the microscope at this period of its growth, when the yolk is divided with the dark granules on one side; while the other side, where the transparent vesicle is seen, is brilliant with light. With the growth of the egg these granules enlarge, become more distinct, and under the microscope some of them appear to be hollow. They are not round in form, but rather irregular, and under the effect of light they are exceedingly brilliant. Presently, instead of being scattered equally over the surface they occupy, they form clusters constellations. as it were and between these clusters are clear spaces, produced by the separation of the albumen from the oil.

At this period of its growth, there is a wonderful resemblance between the appearance of the egg, as seen under the microscope, and the firmament with the celestial bodies. The little clusters or constellations are equally divided. Here and there are two and two, like double stars, or sometimes in threes or fives, or sevens recalling the Pleiades; and the clear albumenous tracts are like the empty spaces separating the stars. This is simply true that such is the actual appearance of the yolk at this time; and the idea cannot but suggest itself to the mind, that the thoughts which have been embodied in the universe, are recalled here within the little egg, presenting a miniature diagram of the firmament. This is one of the first changes of the yolk, ending by forming regular clusters, with a sort of network of albumen between, and then this phase of the growth is complete.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN used to say the very best story he ever read of himself was this: Two Quakers were traveling on the railroad, and were discussing the probable termination of the war. "I think," said the first, "that Jefferson will succeed."

"Why does thee think so?" asked the other. "Because Jefferson is a praying man." And so is Abraham a praying man." Yes; but the Lord will think Abraham is joking!" the first replied, conclusively.

WHAT IT SHOWED.—A lady teacher in a Sunday school recently had occasion to illustrate a lesson on faith by the story of a child who was told by his father to drop from an elevated place into his arms. The father could not be seen by the child, yet when commanded it dropped. Upon the teacher asking the class what was shown by this story, a bright little fellow immediately replied, "it showed he had pluck."

EXASPERATING.—The other day Molecule propounded the followiug to Atom: "A boy said to a gentleman, my father and mother had a daughter, but she is not my sister. Now how do you explain that?" Atom reflected but all in vain. To his every suggestion Molecule replied by a mild but decided negative. At length Atom was forced to give it up. "Why, it's simple enough," said Molecule,, with an exasperating smile. "the boy lied."

"Good morning, Smith—on the sick list to day?" 'Yes sir got the ague.' "Do you ever shake?" "Yes shake like thunder." "When do you shake again?" Can't say when—shake every day. Why do you ask?" "O, nothing in particular—only I thought if you shook so bad, I'd like to stand by and see if you wouldn't shake the fifteen dollars out of your pocket which you have owed me so long.

CURE FOR HEADACHE.—Put a handful of salt into a quart of water, add one ounce of spirits of hartshorn and half an ounce of camphorated spirits of wine. Put them quickly into a bottle, and cork tightly to prevent the escape of the spirit. Soak a piece of rag with the mixture, and apply it to the head; wet the rag afresh as soon as it gets heated.

AT a juvenile party a young gentleman about seven years old kept himself from the rest of the company. The lady of the house called to him, "Come and play, my dear; choose one of those pretty girls for your wife." "Not likely," cried the young cynic; "no wife for me; do you think I want to be worried out of my life like poor papa?"

REV. H——of L——tells the following good story: During the late war, the Dutch Surgeon of a Pennsylvania Regiment, became exasperated against General S——and vented his angry feelings in these words: "Gott in Himmel! I don't vant ter say any dings against Shenera! S——but I vish der Lord vanted him."

ALT. EXT.
OR
DISCOVERY

The originator of this wonderful medicine, claims to have discovered and combined in harmony more of Nature's most sovereign medical properties than was ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and hundreds of the best physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood purifying properties, it cures all Humors from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple or Eruption. Mercurial Disease, Mineral Poisons, Syphilitic and Venereal Diseases, and their effects are eradicated and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Scald head, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all the numerous diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying and invigorating medicine For "Liver Complaint," Bilious Disorders and Habitual Constipation, it has produced hundreds of perfect and permanent cures where other medicines had failed.

The proprietor offers $1,500 reward for a medicine that will equal it in the cure of all the diseases for which it is recommended. Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. See that my private Government Stamp, which is a positive guarantee of genuineness, is upon the outside wrapper. This medicine is Sold by Druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Prepared by R. V. PIERCE, M. ROSADALIS.

THE GREAT AMERICAN health RESTORER, purifies the blood and cures Scrofula, Syphilis, Skin diseases, Rheumatism, and all Chronic Affections of the blood, Liver and Kidneys. Recommended by the Medical Faculty and many thousands of our best citizens. Read the testimony of Physicians and patients who have used Rosadalis: send for our Rosadalis Guide to Health Book, or Almanac for this year, which we publish for gratuitous distribution; it will give you much valuable information.

Dr. R. W. Carr, of Baltimore, says
I take pleasure in recommending your Rosadalis as a very powerful alterative. I have seen it used in two cases with happy results—one in a case of secondary syphilis, in which the patient pronounced himself cured after having taken five bottles of your medicine. The other is a case of scrofula of long standing, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the formula by which your Rosadalis is made, and find it an excellent compound of alterative ingredients.

Dr. Sparks, of Nicholasville, Ky., says he has used Rosadalis in cases of Scrofula and Secondary Syphilis with satisfactory results—as a cleaner of the Blood I know no better remedy.

Samuel G. McFadden, Murfreesborough, Tenn., says:
I have used seven bottles of Rosadalis, and am entirely cured of Rheumatism; send me four bottles, as I wish it for my brother, who has scrofulous sore eyes.

Benjamin Bechtol, of Lima, Ohio, writes, I have suffered for twenty years with an inveterate eruption over my whole body; a short time since I purchased a bottle of Rosadalis and it effected a perfect cure.

Rosadalis is sold by F. P. GREEN, and Druggists generally.

STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

HEADQUARTERS REPUBLICAN STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE OF PENNSYLVANIA,

No. 1105 CHESTNUT STREET, PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23, 1871.—In pursuance of the resolution of the Republican State Central Committee, adopted at Altoona, August 16. 1870, a State Convention, composed of delegates from each Senatorial and Representative district of the number to which each district is entitled in the Legislature, will meet in the Hall of the House of Representatives, at Harrisburg, at 12 o'clock, noon, on the 10th day of March, A. D. 1871, to nominate candidates for Auditor General and Surveyor General, and to take action upon the question of Constitutional Reform, and for the transaction of such other business as may be brought before it.

MAHLON H. DICKINSON,
Chairman Executive Committee,
State Central Committee,

GEO. W. HAMERSLY,
M. S. QUAY,
JAMES W. M. NEWLIN,
Secretaries.

☞A complete file of the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN may always be found at the offices of GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., Advertising Agents, 40 and 41 Park Row, New York, who are authorized to represent us in that city.

THERE are now 170 inmates at the State Asylum for Idiotic and Imbecile Youth, and applications on file for admission of a sufficient number to fill the institution to its utmost capacity—250 persons. Of the appropriation of $48,000 for the year's expenditures, only $35,750 was expended.

THE St. Anthony (Minn.) Democrat, nominates Jerry Black, of Pennsylvania for President, and Senator Thurman, of Ohio, for Vice President, and thinks they can be elected. For the sake of an overwhelming Republican triumph, we move the Democratic nominations close.

MRS. Victoria C. Woodhull, female broker and joint editor of Woodhull & Claflin's Weekly, announces herself as a candidate for the Presidency of the United States, under the auspices of the "Cosmo Political party." Mrs. Woodhull's nomination is, however, subject to the "ratification of the National Convention" of the Cosmo Political party.

THERE appeared in the obituary columns of the Public Ledger last week, notices of the deaths of thirteen persons, seven women and six men, who had lived to or beyond the age of eighty years, to wit: Rev. Thos. H. Skinner, aged 80; Peter Fow, 81; Mary E. Jones, 82; Eli D. Peirce, 82; Mary A. Bentley, 84; Anthony Jones, 84; Mary Hause, 84; Margaret Ward, 85; Hugh McCleary, 85; John Freeland, 86; Sarah Neff, 87; Jane Murphey, 90; and Rhoda Sabins, 95.

COLERADO rejoices in being warm during most of the days in winter, and finds an explanation for this happy fact in the warm trade winds of the Pacific, that come straight from the equator and the East Indies, and rush over the Rocky Mountains so rapidly—in twenty-four hours—that the eternal snow cannot cool them. Such occasional cold days as Colerado has it attributes to the cold winds out of the Mackenzie river and Hudson's Bay regions, but they are not strong enough to effect much.

THE NEGRO RACE.

The favorite theory of the Democratic journals that combine ethnology with politics is the coming extinction of the negro race on the American continent. Numerous learned essays have been written on the subject and some very plausible statistics compiled to lend an air of truth to the theory. It will be a disappointment to these pundits to find that the late census does not agree with their calculations. So far from decreasing, the negro population of the country has actually increased at a ratio which warrants us in saying that emancipation and enfranchisement have not in the least impaired its procreative powers.—There has been an apparent decrease in some Southern States, owing to the emigration to the North and West, and the operations of the Kuklux, but on the whole the census of 1870 completely emasculates this theory of the Democracy.

THE TENNESSEE.

The Tennessee is the name of the steamer in which the committees and officers appointed by the Government to visit and explore St. Domingo, took passage. It is now feared that the vessel is lost with all its crew and precious freight of human beings. Hon. Ben. Wade, it will be remembered, is a member of the commission. We learn from the Harrisburg Telegraph, that no news of the ship had been received at the Navy Department up to the 10th inst. No person wishes to believe that the vessel is lost. It has, therefore, been suggested that perhaps the commission, after they reached sea, resolved to commence their examination on the part of the Island distant from the capital of San Domingo, intending finally to visit President Baez. This is given as the only reasonable explanation of the delay in hearing from the commission, as the naval authorities here have faith in the strength of the vessel.

HORRIBLE RAILROAD ACCIDENT WHOLESALE MURDER.

One of the most horrible railroad accidents, of which we have ever read occurred at New Hamburg on the 6th inst. We copy a few of the telegrams and notices of the Press in relation to it.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., February 7.—The following particulars of a horrible railroad accident at New Hamburg, on the Hudson River Railroad, have been received: An oil train bound north caught fire near the bridge at that place, at a late hour, last night. The express train came along and ran into the oil train, catching fire also. The oil train set fire to the bridge and the combined weight of the two trains broke the bridge in two, and the cars fell through in a mass of wreck and confusion. Several persons unable to get out of the cars and when the crash occurred, were burned or drowned. The engineer, conductor and brakesmen of the express train are known to be killed. The scene at the track was fearful. A corpse of engineers from this city has arrived to attend the wounded and dying. Three sleeping cars are among those destroyed. Eighteen persons are known to have been killed outright and many more are injured.

FINDING THE VICTIMS.

The World says, seeking for the dead began with the first clear light of day. The intense cold made the work very severe. The thermometer stood below zero, and ice was forming rapidly over the surface of the chasm in the ice where the cars had gone down. That removal of the dead from the wreck was a soulsickening, horrible work. Each corpse brought to light, instead of inuring the spectators to the ghastly hideousness of these poor remnants of humanity, increased their painful sympathetic anguish and filled them with dread of the possible horrors still to be encountered. Mangled by the wreck, mutilated by the fire, their features, where at all preserved, stamped with an ineffaceable expression of agony and terror beyond the power of depiction in words, those ghastly corpses were things of terror in themselves. Some portions of the sleeping car not sunk beneath the ice were still burning, and the hardy villagers, heeding not the fire, failed not in their duty, but with levers, crowbars, and beams of all kinds tore away pieces of the framework of the cars to get at the dead bodies beneath. The first body was recovered at nine o'clock.

The dead, as they were extricated, were laid upon the floor of the baggage car, and a fire was kept up near them to thaw out the frozen garments of those upon whom any clothing remained, in order to prosecute the search for means of identification. Most of those found in the wreck of the Buffalo coach were in a mass at the lower end, that plunged down deep in the mud and water, and seemed to have been making an effort to reach the door, to escape, when death seized them. Physicians and surgeons were upon the ground at an early hour. The people from Poughkeepsie and New Hamburg came promptly to aid by their active kindness in the work. They had been alarmed during the night by the noise of the collision and explosion, and the sight of the great fire subsequently was seen for miles around.

ROBBING THE DEAD.

There did not appear to be any one in authority and the trunks were broken open and pillaged by wholesale. Nor was this all. One of the unfeeling got a book of written sermons, probably belonging to the unfortunate Mr. Fowler, which he read aloud amid the jeers and laughter of the unfeeling crowd. Articles of female apparel would be pulled out of the trunks, and held up to view in sport, and the bodies themselves were as roughly fished out as if they were so much carrion, and then a rope was passed round them and they were dragged over the ice to the car, which was some distance off, the rough edges of the ice cutting into their flesh and marking the track with blood, which will account in part for the mutilated condition of the bodies. From all accounts the railroad people did nothing except commence the work of repairing their bridge, and the surviving passengers were left to care for themselves as best they might.

DRUNKARDS AT THE GRAVE.

During Tuesday, all the villagers had been at work on the ice and in the water as long as the light of day lasted, and were nearly frozen. To keep from perishing many of them had resorted to spirituous liquor, and in the evening they were half intoxicated. In carrying the passengers from the trains around the wreck on the ice, they ran, cursed, and shouted at the very brink of the grave.

STRANGE CONDUCT OF THE RAILROAD CO.

A Poughkeepsie dispatch of Tuesday, midnight, to the Sun says: The utmost indignation exists in New Hamburg, here and elsewhere, at the culpable inhumanity manifested by the railroad officials. The accident occurred at about twenty minutes past ten. One old lady was soon afterward taken from the wreck; then, owing to the great heat, nothing further was done until four a. m. In the meantime the passengers, male and female, old and young, were left to take care of themselves. Some walked back to New Hamburg station and huddled about the stove in the cheerless police station; others sought shelter in the cars that were not burned. At 4 a. m., gangs of railroad workmen arrived from Poughkeepsie and went to work repairing the track. A conductor sung out, "Passengers going north and west, take these cars," and such of the survivors as cared to leave were hurried away. Citizens of New Hamburg then began searching the wreck for dead bodies. During the day a coroner and undertaker arrived from Poughkeepsie and took charge of the bodies and such effects as were found on them. Superintendent Toucey, who had arrived early in the afternoon, directed the undertaker to take charge of all the bodies at the expense of the company, and this is everything that has been done by the company up to this writing, towards securing any of the dead.

INTERESTING INCIDENTS.

The Tribune says: When, among the rest, the body of a woman, with a child grasped closely in each arm, was drawn out, a gentleman who had been walking frantically to and fro since the disaster, at once recognized them as his wife and children. He said that just before the collision he left his family to go to the smoking-car and had hardly stepped into the adjoining car when the shock came, and separated them from him forever. One gentleman said that he had started to the West with his wife, and all of his property, consisting of $10,000, intending to settle there. Wishing to speak with a friend in the rear car, he left his wife for a moment, but before he could return the collision came, and he did not see her again till her mangled and disfigured body was taken from the ruins.

A lady said she was on her way to Buffalo with two sisters, and, wishing to make some arrasgements with friends in the rear car, went back, and had barely escaped from the car when the explosion took place.

A workman, while engaged in searching for the bodies, had both of his legs broke by a falling piece of timber, and it is feared that his injuries will prove fatal.

The Herald says that the baggage master, "Doc" Clow, had run up for the first time in place of a friend, and he was also killed.

Edward Bartlett, an engineer, who is married and lived at Rondout, was riding over the road with his friend Simmons and shared his fate.

"Near this woman (in the baggage car margue) now lies the body of another, dressed in the silk robe, with lace cuffs and a linen collar. A gold chain is suspended from her neck and attached to a watch (gold), and bearing an inscription, and she wears diamond ornaments and rings."

One instance of remarkable coolness is related. A gentleman occupying a berth in the centre of the second sleeping-car, on being aroused, waited until he had completely dressed himself, in every particular, even hunting up his overshoes and putting them on before leaving, by which time the forward end of the car was in flames.

OUTRAGEOUS CONDUCT.

The Tribune says in regard to the railroad disaster: It is a remarkable fact that some of the leading officials of the road have personally superintended the removing of the slain, and that the bodies taken out have been subjected to the grossest indignities, and their personal effect recovered, stolen. Bodies have been dragged by means of a rope fastened around their wastes over the ice, broken ties and snow to the morgue car, and tossed in like sheep. Ladies undergarments have been held up by boys and men, and ribald jokes passed on them. Half the village have possessed themselves of mementoes of the disaster in the shape of clothing, and even whole packages of baggage. All this has been done without the slightest interference by the officials. Two or three well known thieves were put out of the place, but returned in a few hours. It is true there is a railroad policeman on the ground, but he is fishing for plunder like the rest.

NO MORE BODIES FOUND.

NEW HAMBURG, Feb. 9.—The report that no more victims of the railroad disaster have been found is untrue. A fragment of the Buffalo sleeping car, in which the deaths occurred, has just been raised from the water, and although a rigid search has been made in the water, no bodies have been found. It is the general belief that all the dead have been recovered.

Medical.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Coughs, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to cold and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgements we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remidies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either residence in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the Ague Cure daily.

For Liver Complaints, arise from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Billious Disorders and Liver complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Perpared by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

PRICE, $1,00 PER BOTTLE.

For the REPUBLICAN.

Drunkenness and its Curse.—No. 8.

BY REFORMATION.

No wonder that the Almighty points his cannon so fearfully against drunkenness. For surely if there be a sin under Heaven that tends to petrify the heart, to banish love, and to render man tenfold more a child of hell than other vice or sin, it is drunkenness. All sin, we agree, hardens the heart, and drives away that grace which comes to rock the cradle of our infant virtues. All sin we agree like water on fire, quenches the spirit, and puts out the flame of our better love. But drunkenness is a flood that drowns the whole moral birth of the soul. These are facts beyond all contradiction, and a combination of truths which no one, no, not even the drunkard himself pretends a denial. And yet in the face of all these confirmed facts, great means through and by which drunkenness is kept fastened upon us, is in consequence of the aid and support of those in high positions to that accursed law, known as the license law. And upon you rests this awful responsibility, and the murder of innocence through your instrumentality, is a thousand fold greater than in the days of Herod. His decree had an end, but yours is handed down from generation to generation. Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil, saith the Lord, a mandate which seems to fall upon your ears as of no import. Like the blind Pharisee you claim to be pure and spotless, and your dignity is beyond reproach, and you will not humble yourselves, that you might know him whom you profess to worship. Truth is mighty and always triumphs, when brought in contact with error, but when suppressed and hindered it is powerless, and we who hide it are responsible for its want of power.

And so is it to day, the evils of the "License law," are kept covered under the garb of religion and morality, and the evil of drunkenness is attributed to the retail dealers and the drinker, upon whom all odium is cast; but the great fountain-head is left untouched. Can the Physician cure his patient to sound health without first removing the cause of disease? Nor can the friends of temperance eradicate drunkenness with all its kindred evils from our land, until they destroy the fountain head, whence all these evils flow. And where is the fountain-head but in the license law? Here is where the great enemy of our peace and happiness lives.

Friends of God and humanity, can you behold this and longer remain indifferent to your duty? Are you not called upon by the voice of him in whom you profess to take an active and zealous part? There is no longer any doubt of the part which you should act. A light has beamed upon the world, and the sun of temperance is now shining with full effulgence. In its rays the horrors of intemperance are clearly and distinctly seen, and a remedy is revealed. And what is that remedy? Simply to show the advocates of the accursed license law that they are the murderers of our peace and happiness on earth and in the end the destroyer's of souls. Not only are they the means of destruction to others, but how stands it with them in relation to the salvation of their own souls? You must not only plead for the reformation of the drunkard; but also for those who make and establish the means, through and by which drunkards are made.

Wives, mothers, sisters and daughters, come forward in your strength and might. It is you who suffer the most, ask and ye shall receive, knock and it shall be opened unto you. What wife, what mother, what sister, has not shed the bitter tears of sorrow in consequence of the fruits of the license law—now act the part of the Cleveland lady, only in change of form, walk into Court and ask it to stay its hand when about to execute the license law, (simply the law of misery, death, and destruction.) And pray, what will be the difference between you and the Cleveland lady? She boldly stepped down into the saloon, and asked the young man to stop, do not lift that glass to your lips. And he hearkened unto her. Now you ask the court to stay its hand—do not execute that license. You are asked for your reason for so doing. It is simply this. You do not want that glass to be filled again. Now in the sight of God what difference is there between that saloon keeper that handed that young man the bottle, out of which he filled his glass, and the court which granted the saloon keeper the privilege of handing out the bottle, out of which that glass was filled? I will leave this for your conscience to answer. And I do not doubt the correctness of the answer.

Now let us see what the framers of our constitution said in the beginning, and then compare the workings of the license law, with their declaration. "We the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defence promote [illegible] the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves, and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution, &c. Now the United States is filled with churches—the members thereof claiming to be the light of the world—and we, the people, claiming to be the union of civilization, standing high (or professing to) in christian character before all Nations, and then claim this death worker of both soul and body, "the license law," to be in unison with the above declaration. To whom does the license law secure or establish justice? To whom does it insure domestic tranquility? In what way does it provide for the common defence? In what way does it promote the general welfare? And how does it secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity? The most depraved creature on earth knows full well it does none of these things. And yet you claim the license law to be in accordance with the constitution of our country, framed by our forefathers, as they say, for the general good of all, when all are ready to admit that the fruit of the license law is destruction and only destruction to all, who either directly or indirectly partake of this fruit.

But now the child of perdition from its workings finds it will no longer answer to claim kindred with the above declaration, therefore come forward its God-Fathers God-Mothers, and a host of others among who we find, the moralist, formalist and educationalist, with a large number of the learned of the day who have heavy prefixes to their names. Oh! they are a mighty host, thanking God they are not as other men. No, not even as this Publican. And they undertake to smooth the thing over very nicely and tell us poor ignorant quibblers, that the license law (this medium of destruction to human souls) has its being under a conglomeration of compound called and known as discretionary power. And claims to be the conception of wise men, and by them enacted for the purpose of raising revenue for the use of the government in defraying the public expense &c. Now christian what kind of religion would discretionary religion be, you may ask your conscience about what kind it is, you will not have much trouble to get the answer. Well, then our wise men do not exactly claim this child of theirs to be born of the constitution, but they in their wisdom have brought it upon us by adoption, claiming it to be an act of necessity. For without it sufficient means could not be raised to defray the expenses of our country.

Great God, is this the way the machinery of our boasted country is to be kept moving? The peace, happiness, comfort and the general welfare of thousands upon thousands during this life destroyed and in the end eternal misery in an ever-endless hell, to their souls? Thus ends the workings of this child of adoption, brought upon us by discretionary power as you claim—I mean those who are in our Congress halls in our Legislative halls &c., &c., and among all who are to day filling high places in our land. They claim to have this power, and to them his Satanical Majesty looks up, for the maintainance of this child of death. And well does the old man carry on his work through the instrumentality of those filling high places. Deny this who may, or put what construction upon it you please, if you have a spark of the spirit of Christ in your hearts, you cannot deny the charge. You are nothing more than enemies of our peace and happiness on earth, and instrumental in the casting down of souls into ever-endless misery.

Thus do we go on from day to day. While our children are being destroyed, our homes made desolate, these workers of destruction are held up in respectability. But friends of the cause of temperance stand by your colors, and march boldly to the battle. You know your duty. He that will deny me before men, the same will be denied before God in heaven. Discretionary power will answer Satan on earth for the destruction of souls; but something more is needed to secure eternal life. Wo unto the world because of offenses, for it must needs be that offences come, but wo to that man by whom the offences cometh, St., Matt. XVIII v. 7th. Now from whence cometh these offences? Simply from man's disobedience to the will of God. And thus are we in the face of all truth courting destruction for ourselves and our posterity, by upholding these founders of our miseries, in respectability. And all who lend their aid and support to this child of desolation are of like akin.

MANHOOD.

In the Young and Rising Generation-

The vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show its baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwards upon themselves.

If the patient be a female, the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety, as the first symptom in which Nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and vivifying the cheek with the bloom of health. [illegible] of appetite has grown by [illegible] Alas! increase what it fed on; the energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S

EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness arising from excesses or early indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision Langour, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing more desirable to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for Fear of Themselves; no Repose of Manner, no Earnestness, no Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this Medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Power, Fatuity, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases Insanity and Consumption! The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute—neither Mirth or Grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur, it is rarely articulate.

"With woeful measures wan Despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled."

Whilst we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences.

The Great Medical Discovery!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands
Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the peculiar merit of acting as a mild Aperient and Tonic, and at the same time exerting the most wonderful Alterative effects, and all the Vital Organs of the body are made to participate in its wonderful renovating influence. Containing no Alcohol, nothing that can intoxicate, it is the only Bitters that will not destroy the appetite. Its ingredients are derived from the Vegetable Kingdom of California, the botanical wonder of the world, and are the Sovereign Remedial Agents in the cure of all diseases of the Digestive Organs, Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. Send for a circular.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

Making Butter In Winter.

"Anybody can make good butter in the summer." So they say; but we don't find it a true saying. The other part is true, though: "It is the winter that tells the tale." Not one dairy woman in five hundred can make really good butter in cold weather; that is, butter that will remain good a week after it is made. The difficulties are numerous, thus: The cows have not the best butter making feed; they have little, if any, coloring matter in their feed; the temperature at which the milk is kept is very unequal; the danger of mixing in the flavors of the kitchen with the milk, the cream or the butter, is very great; and the butter is too apt to be allowed to become too warm or too cold before it is finally worked into shape.

Over the matter of feeding we can have only a limited control. Nothing that we can devise is so good as the natural green forage of summer. Our chief attention should be given, then, to temperature, pure air, and artificial coloring, without relaxing, of course, the always indispensable care with regard to perfect cleanliness and perfect working.

The milkroom had better be entirely by itself—where it cannot be pervaded by the odor of boiled cabbage and fried onion—and it must be kept warm. A kitchen closet is the worst place to set milk in; a sitting room closet is better but not so safe as an isolated room, with a stove in it that can be made to keep its fire all night. After frost sets in regularly in November, the milk should be scalded as soon as it is brought from the stable. This is done by standing the vessel containing it (after straining) in a larger one on the fire, in which water is boiling, stirring the milk occasionally, and removing it when its surface begins to "crinkle" and to throw off a little cloud of vapor, or when it "begins to smoke." To allow it to become warmer than this will do harm. In this condition it may be poured into the pans to—a much greater depth than is usual in summer in a closet or room in which the thermometer never goes below 55°, rarely below 60°, and never rem ins long above 65°. This milk can safely stand twenty-four hours, and by that time all the cream should have risen. The cream should be kept in a jar, in the same room, not too far from the stove, nor yet too near it, and it should be thoroughly stirred to the very bottom, every time a fresh skimming is added; that is, twice a day. The churning, which should be as often as once (and better twice) a week, should be done either in the milkroom or in some place not much colder. The butter should be worked in the warm milkroom, and it should be kept there while "soaking up the salt" between the two workings. After it is moulded or packed away, it may be kept in a cooler place, but it would be better never to let it become so cold as to get very hard—not colder than it would become in a snug cellar.

About coloring, we have given frequent directions. Carrot juice or a decoction of annotto may be put in the churn with the cream, or an extract of annotto in melted butter may be worked through the lump after it is taken out of the churn. Unless the cows are fed very largely on rowan hay or on carrots, some artificial coloring is important.

It should be borne in mind that these directions are only supplementary to those so often given on the general management of the dairy. They by no means supersede them; they only refer to conditions which are necessary, to make winter butter from hay-fed cows as nearly like that of the summer as winter butter can be.—American Agriculturist.

APPLE DUMPLING.—Make a crust of 1 quart of flour, 2 teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar, 1 teaspoonful of soda, 1 tablespoonful of butter or lard, a little salt, a little milk—enough milk to make dough that can be rolled out. Cut this dough in eight pieces, roll them out thin, put slices of sour apple upon them, fold them up tight and steam or bake. Baking will require thirty minutes, steaming an hour.—Either hard or liquid sauce may be used.

CLIPPING HORSES.—Mr. Henry Bergh, President of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, protests against the cruelty to which horses are subjected by the clipping process now so much in vogue in New York city and elsewhere. The habit is a caprice of fashion, and it causes much suffering, and often fatal diseases in cold weather, and ought to be denounced by every humane horse owner.

And now complete connections made,
An enterprising notion.

The mighty work at last is done,
So speedy and brisk, oh!
And now in ten days we can run
From here to San Francisco.

No more we take the ancient route,
The stage, a horrid slow thing;
It banged the passengers about
And wore out all their clothing.

Chorus, for the end of each verse:

The Great Pacific Railroad laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And we buy clothes from A. STERNBERG,
A most delightful notion.

Through passengers by the Pacific Railroad will call at the store of A. Sternberg, before starting, and provide themselves with a complete outfit of Spring and Summer clothing, the very best assortment of which will always be found at A. Sternberg's Store.

People who travel by other routes, and also people who, instead of travelling by any route at all, prefer to stay at home, can find the most superior and seasonable garments, for every occasion, of every variety, and at the lowest price.

Do not fail to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere; if you do not, we are sure you will be sorry that you did not. Our goods are put down to the lowest figure. We sell whole suits, according to quality.

RANGING FROM $6,50 to $18,00

HOME NEWS.

Choice Perfumery at Green's.

If you would have a good thick head of hair, use Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer. No other like it.

People who advertise only once in three months forget that most folks can't remember anything longer than seven days.

A. L. Russell, Adjutant General of Pennsylvania, will please accept our thanks for a copy of "Adjutant Generals Report," for 1870.

Fire Company.—The Bush House will prepare the supper for the Logan Fire Co's Select Ball, on next Thursday evening, the 16th inst. It will be a superb affair.

A Lecture.—To be delivered by Rev. M. P. Stack, in St. John's Catholic Church, Bellefonte, Friday March 17th, at 8 o'clock P. M. Subject the Irish Race. Tickets 50 cents.

Death Warrant Issued.—The Governor has signed the death warrant of Lloyd Britton, convicted of the murder of Jacob Bay, in Lycoming county, in November, 1870. The execution will take place at Williamsport, on Wednesday, March 22, 1871.

Modest.—At a wedding, recently, when the officiating priest asked the the lady, "Wilt thou have this man to be thy wedded husband?" she dropped the prettiest courtsey, and, with a modesty which lent her beauty an additional grace, replied, "If you please."

Scarce.—Locals are very scarce this week. We hope that our friends in the country, will not fail to report to us every thing which may occur in their respective neighborhoods. Why are the school teachers so lazy about reporting? There is no better opportunity offered for improvement in composition. Send in the locals friends.

Cheap.—Powers & McLain at their excellent Boot and Shoe store, opposite the Bush House, are not selling off at cost; but they are offering their whole stock at lower rates than any other establishment in town. At least we are told so by Mr. Powers himself. And we have always found him a man of his word. He always does just what he says.

Large Hog.—Wm. Tate, Esq., one of Benner tp's., successful and intelligent farmers, on Monday of last week brought to town a hog, which weighed 527 lbs. This, we believe is the largest hog brought to town this season, and beats the two big hogs killed by our Democratic friend Benj. Hunter, Esq., all hollow. Just the way we will lam the Democratic party in 1872. We will beat them two to one.

Beat This.—H. Ingram, Esq., a scientific farmer, of Spring tp., killed a hog last week, 13½ months old which weighed 495 lbs. Can any of our farmers beat this? Mr. Ingram will receive our thanks for a nice lot of most excellent sausage. Men like Mr. Ingram who remember the printer never have to waste time in hunting for farms The land owners hunt up such men.

A landlord, in Philipsburg, N. J., who was receiving $12,50 per months for a house, refused to rent to a party offering him $16 per month giving as a reason that he would not himself like to give more than $12,50 for the house, and he would not therefore raise the rent.

How many property owners in this place we wonder could see the point of the reasoning? We fear the number would be so few that it could be marked with a 0.

Jewelry.—We direct the attention of our readers to the advertisement of F. P. Blair, Watchmaker and Jeweler, in another column. He is a first class workman, keeps none but the best of stock of all kinds pertaining to his business, is affable, and accomodating, and determined to please all who may favor him with a call. He has a large and superior stock of spectacles and glasses of all kinds, to suit all ages and sexes. We can vouch for the superior quality of his glasses.

Big Yield.—Isaac M. Carter, a prosperous farmer of Furguson township, reports to us the amount of butter made by his wife during the last summer. He says "we owned three cows from the first of April 1870, and a fourth one from the fifth of July 1870. From these four cows Mrs. Carter, has raised four calves, fed four pigs, and has sold six hundred and twelve pounds of butter, besides what we used for our own family, up to the first of January 1871. As we live on a two hundred acre farm, all farmers can form an idea how much we would use." If Miss Fannie Andrews or any other person can beat this, we would like to have them report the same.

Fine Wines and Liquors for medicinal use, at Green's.

Fire.—On Saturday morning about 3 o'clock the usually quiet little village of Port Matilda was startled by the cry of fire! The flames were seen bursting out from the North Eastern end of the "Port Matilda Hotel." The fire had gained such headway before it was discovered that all attempts to save the building were fruitless.

The inmates all escaped, some of them however only in their night clothes so sudden was the alarm, and so rapid was the progress of the flames. The night was very still and the citizens devoted themselves to saving whatever could be rescued from the burning building and to preventing the spread of the flames. By the most super human exertions the house of Mr. George. Hasson only 3 feet distant was saved, Mr. Butler's, loss in provisions, groceries &c., was considerable, he having provided quite a lot of sugar, coffee, and other groceries just a few days before the fire, all of which were burned.

The general impression in the community in regard to the origin of the fire is that it must have been the work of an incendiary.

A fine assortment of Hair Brushes, at Green's.

Good Language.—We would advise all young people to acquire, in early life, the habit of correct speaking and writing, and to abandon as early as possible the use of slang word phrases. The longer you live the more difficult the acquirement of correct language will be, and if the golden age of youth, the proper season for the acquisition of language, be passed in its abuse, the unfortunate victim if neglected, is very properly doomed to talk slang for life. A man has merely to use the language he reads, instead of the slang which he hears, to form his tastes from the best speakers and poets in the country; to treasure up choice phrases in his memory, and habituate himself to their use; avoiding at the same time that pedantic precision and bombast which shows the weakness of vain ambition, rather than the polish of an educated mind.

New Market.—J.G. Kurtz is remodelling his bowling alley for the purpose, we think of turning it, to a better use. The back part of it, has been converted into an ice house, in which he has stored over 40 tons of ice. The front part of the alley, or old Central Press office, he is painting and shelving for a first rate Grocery and meat market. It is the intention of Mr. Kurtz to open his store and market house as early as the 1st of March under the firm name of Kurtz & Straub. Mr. Straub is well known to our citizens as an honest upright man and we believe that the firm will do a good business. They have employed a number one butcher, and will serve our citizens with the best of fresh meat all through the season.

February 22nd.—Washington's birth day, promises to be, this year, a day of interest, mirth and military. We understand that the "Unionville Cadets" will visit Bellefonte on the 22nd, and parade with the "Seller's Zouaves." The Zouaves have been here before, and all will bear testimony to their good behaviour and soldierly bearing. The Unionville Cadets, is a new company, but remarkably well drilled and organized. The company is composed of the flower of the young men of Unionville and Union twp., and does honor to both, as well as to our county.

New Firm.—We are pleased to learn that our enterprising friend Jno. Meese, now chief clerk in the store of Wagner & Son, designs, in company with two other gentlemen whose names we have not learned, starting a mammoth dry good store in this place, about the 1st of April. Mr. Meese is one of the best clerks in the town, understands the merchantile business in all its departments, and will we know, when he opens out for himself do a first class business. We wish him success.

Books, &c.—Jno. I. Rankin the enterprising book and stationery man in his large and splendid store opposite the Bush House, has everything for sale at remarkably low prices, usually found in a Book Store. Persons wishing books which he has not on hand, can have them ordered and delivered at city prices and express charges. He has a large supply of prize collars, which he sells low. He collored us one day last week in such a manner as to place us beyond want for the next two months.

Kissing.—A lady, writing on the subject of kissing, says: "I am vain enough to pride myself on being a girl of good sense, and I dearly love and can appreciate good kissing—indeed, I should quite as lief have a good kiss as a new cashmere. It is to me one of life's sweetest enjoyments. Some of my life's happiest moments have been spent in kissing. A rich, hearty kiss, from plump, rosy, moustached (or unmoustached) lips will last me a whole day."

Dentistry.—Dr. Samuel Belford a man of superior reputation as a Dentist, is again in town. For the next two weeks he will be found at his office, ever ready to wait upon those who wish new sets of teeth or anything done connected with dentistry. Dr. Belford has few, if any, superiors in his Profession.

For the Republican.

Family Union.—A very pleasant surprise took place at the residence of Mrs. Mary Gray in Half Moon, on Tuesday the 7th inst., in honor of her seventy second birth day. There convened at the house at 10 o'clock a. m., of said day, children, grand children and great grand children, forty two in number together with brothers, sisters and friends, in all, fifty-three. Mrs. Gray being absent from home, visiting a sister, and entirely ignorant of the affair, was sent for, and on her arrival at about 12 m., was warmly greeted by the united presence of her family and friends, who had taken absolutely, possession of her home. The scene was one of more than ordinary interest and pleasure. After a general round of hearty congratulations, a number of very fine and handsome presents were given her by those present as testimonials of the high regard entertained for her as the surviving parent of the family, and as pledges of continued gratitude and support in old age. The party then repaired to the dining room, where had been prepared a most elegant repast, to which ample justice was done, and which was in keeping with the excellency of the occasion. It was a family union such as necessarily strengthens the ties that unite kindred hearts in one, and cheers, comforts and solaces old age, and will long be remembered.

Friend.

Scotch Ale at Green's.

A Pretty Woman.—A pretty virtuous woman is one of the institutions of this as well as any other country—an angel in dry goods and glory. She makes sunshine, blue sky and happiness wherever she goes. Her path is one of delicious roses, perfume and beauty. She is a sweet poem written in rare curls and choice calico, and good principles. Men stand up before her as so many admiration points, to melt into cream and butter. Her words float around the ear like music, birds of paradise, or the perfumes of Sabbath bells. Without her, society would lose its truest attraction, the church its firmest reliance, and young men their very best comforters and companions. Her influence and generosity restrain the vicious and strengthen the faint hearted. Whenever you find the virtuous woman, you also find fireside bouquets, clean clothes, order, good living, gentle hearts, music and light, and modern institutions generally. She is the flower of humanity, her inspiration is the breath of heaven.

A Word to Country Newspapers.—The Cleveland Herald makes the following truthful observation concerning country papers, and the duty of giving them wholesale support:

"The local paper is an absolute necessity to the county and community where it is published. All the city papers cannot supply the place of the home paper. That should be the first love of every man and woman, for with the paper is the locality identified. The paper gives the county and town where printed much of their importance in the world, and gives in detail the local news which cannot be gained by any other source. Every day's issue of the paper is so much local history, and the rise, growth and development of the town and county can be measured and recorded only by the local newspaper that constantly is gathering its items. People do not properly appreciate their home newspaper. They measure the value of a paper too much by the number of columns it contains. The home paper at any price is the cheapest paper one can take, for in it is found the information to be obtained from no other source.

Another thing to be taken into consideration. Every county has one or more newspapers Hence, the circulation of each paper must be limited. There is therefore the greatest need of activity and interest on the part of the people to give their own paper, vigorous and substantial support.

Some people have an idea that the editorial rooms of a newspaper are intended for general use as a reading room, and per consequence walk in uninvited, glance over the exchanges, and talk incessantly about nothing, much to the annoyance of its editors. Another class of people seem to think that exchanges are public property, and deliberately appropriate and carry them off without as much as saying, "by your leave," and without reference to the date, being just as likely, if not more so, to take the latest exchanges instead of those of a few days previous. These people have certainly mistaken ideas of the use of the editorial rooms, and the value of the exchanges. "A word to the wise is sufficient."

New And Valuable Seeds Given Away.—We have received from N. P. Boyer & Co., of Parkesburg, Chester Co., Pa., samples of Imported Norway Oats, Alsike Clover and Chester county Mammath Corn; they generously offer to send sample packages free to all Farmers who send stamps to pay postage. Messrs N. P. Boyer & Co., are the Largest Importers of Thoroughbred Stock and Choice Seeds in the United States, and as there is so much bogus Norway Oats and other Seeds being sold, they wish to give every Farmer in the country a chance to test their Genuine Seeds, free of charge. We hope all our farmer friends will avail themselves of this generous offer.

A Desire.—It has long been a desire with Medical men to have an agreeable tonic which will act beneficially upon the different functions of the system without deleterious effect. Speer's "Standard Wine Bitters" fully meet the want so long felt. Their base is his pure wine, without any medication, except by herbs and roots. Sold by Druggists.

For the Republican.

County Committee.—In obedience to the call published in the Republican by Jas. H. Rankin, Esq., Chairman of the Republican Executive County Committee met on Saturday, the 11th inst., for the purpose of electing a Representative Delegate and Senatorial Conferees. The convention was called to order by the Chairman Jas. H. Rankin, Esq., who, upon taking the chair made a short address in which he threw out some pertinent and valuable hints in regard to the duty of every member of the Committee, as well as of every member of the Republican party, and the importance of nominating men of the most sterling integrity and acknowledged ability as candidates for the office of Auditor and Surveyor General, respectively.

On motion Col. W. W. Brown, was chosen Representative Delegate, and Col. A. Gregg, of Potter twp, George Alexander, Esq., of Unionville Borough, and Capt. W. W. Rogers, of Walker twp., were chosen Senatorial Conferees. The following named persons were chosen as alternates: W. J. Thompson, Esq., of Potter twp., Benjamin Rich, Esq., of Unionville, and Isaac Lytle, Esq., of Bellefonte.

After the election of Delegates, Col. A. Gregg, offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That we esteem Wm. P. Wilson, Esq., as a sound and faithful Republican, a high minded honorable citizen, and believe that his nomination by the State Convention, to the office of Surveyor General, will ensure the triumphant election of our ticket next fall. We therefore, instruct our Representative Delegate and Senatorial Conferees, to use all honorable means to secure his nomination.

On motion adjourned.

I. Lytle, Secretary.

Complimentary.—The temptation to print the following letter was too strong for us to withstand. We print it for two reasons, 1st to let our friends see what sensible men abroad think of the Republican, and 2d to let the numerous friends, of Levi Werrick Esq., in this county know that he is well and flourishing in his home at Tiffin Ohio.

Tiffin, O., February 10, 1871.

W. W. Brown, Esq.,

Dear Sir:—Herewith please find money order for two dollars, amount of bill sent for Bellefonte Republican.

You will please continue sending me your paper. You will excuse me if I say, I regard your paper the most ably conducted weekly I know, and read it with no little degree of interest, not only for the local news, but for the broad views on political and national questions. I regret very much that the Republicans of your Congressional District, allowed the Democrats to defeat Hon. Wm. H. Armstrong. I could not help but feel as if there was some carelessness or bad management in your last fall campaign. In this the 9th Ohio District, we had a majority against us of over fifteen hundred, yet we overcome that and elected our candidate the Hon. C. Porter by over seven hundred majority. This was done by organizing every school district in the Congressional district, adding to this, much hard and earnest work. I would like very much to visit my old friends in old Centre and especially would I like to have a good long talk with you. But enough of this.

Respectfully, yours, &c.,

Levi Werrick.

To the Trade.—I desire to call the attention of the trade to my stock of lake fish, having, for the past thirteen years, made this branch of business a specialty. My stock, at this time, is the largest ever held in this city. I am prepared to furnish dealers, promptly, by the dray or car load, and have made arrangements for shipping by the car load, at special rates, from Detroit, Sandusky, Huron, Vermillion or Cleveland, and also from Pittsburgh to any points in Pennsylvania or Ohio, as shippers may with. I would also call the attention of dealers to my extensive assortment and stock of corn brooms, broom corn, and broom materials, all of which I can supply at very low rates.

For the Republican.

Temperance.

Volumes might be written on the evils of intoxicating liquors. It is a subject that presents a wide field of thought, a field, too, that is watered by the crimson streams of human gore and decked with the graves of fallen victims. If you open the dark scroll upon which is registered the evils of intemperance and the crimes of its victims, the whole earth would be darkened and the broad canopy of the heavens would be shrouded in mourning. Alcohol is the tyrant king that ensnares its votaries with garnished pleasure, and rules them with misery woe and damnation. With the bloodstained history of the past, and the frightful realities of the present, before us, its poisonous streams are still spreading misery and woe throughout the length and bredth of our fair land, and the strong, deep current of its evil is cutting its way through the vitals of our race.

The evils of intemperance are too well known to require special notice, sum up all the miseries, woes and crimes of the human race, and a very large proportion of them can be traced, either directly or indirectly to intemperance as the prime cause. In contrast with such results, we now appeal in the name of a suffering humanity to you to pause and consider the noble virtues and blessings resulting from temperance. Life, health, peace, happiness and pleasure; virtue, honor, integrity and kindness; beauty, refinement, wealth, morality and intelligence are all among the blessings and results of a temperate life. In the name of these, and the duties you owe to yourself, to society, and to your God, we entreat you to adhear to the principles of sobriety and temperance. Habits of intemperance are generally of slow and gradual growth. It is not often that a man becomes a drunkard at one step, but when he has taken the first, he is more liable to take the second. "It is the first step that ruins," is an old maxim of the French.

"The path is smooth that leadeth unto dangers" and when you yield the first time to temptation you weaken your hold upon virtue, you turn your back to the current, and are liable to be swept along with the multitude who do evil." "Enter not into the paths of the wicked," nor keep the company of those who indulge in strong drink. If you associate with those who indulge in an "occasional glass" or smile as they term it, and visit with them their favorite places of resort, you place yourself in the way of temptation and are in danger, as it is the "little vernin that spoil the vine," so it is the little evils that open the way and lead you into the "broad road" to a drunkards grave, and a drunkards hell, your only safety isto adhere strictly and rigidly to the principles of total abstinence, "touch not, taste not, handle not." The desire for intoxicating driks is based in a perverted appetite.

Its gratification excites the animal nature and brings the moral and intellectual faculties under the control of the passions. Not only consider the advantages of temperance upon your own happiness and welfare, but let your example and your influence be such as to induce others to leave these habits of vice and join you in those of sobriety and temperance. This hell-begotten curse of intemperance has become an outrage upon all the noble and refined feelings of mankind. Let those who know and realize the extent of this great evil sound the alarm, and warn the young of the danger which attends their first indulgence. To those who are still free from the deadly grasp of this iron monster and especially the young—we would say, as you value your health and the pleasures of an unperverted appetite, as you wish to retain the purity of your moral character, and all the noble and refined attributes of your nature, abstain from the use of alcohol in all its forms and the disgusting habits connected with its use.
